Miniatures

Unusual interest in Miniature Dahlias is developing both in foreign countries and at home. This list will stand comparison with any issued in America. Of the varieties offered, thirty-three are importations released for sale this Spring.

Our Miniatures won the highest award at A Century of Progress, the International Horticultural Exposition and the recent C. S. D. S. show in Chicago.

All of this group are low growing plants and especially free blooming, with good stems. Very satisfactory for table decorations or small baskets.

INFORMAL DECORATIVE

Agalia—Orange fawn, overlaid salmon.

Ballego's Miniature—(English) Brilliant orange scarlet, fully double. An ideal bedding variety.

Coral Gem—Gold, overlaid geranium pink, darker at edges.

Elvic—Variable, scarlet, edged and tipped white. Low plant, free blooming.

Glorious—Low growing raspberry red. English gold medal winner.

Joan—Small, bright cerise rose. Early and constant bloomer. 75c.

Lady Mary Hope—Amber and orange, tipped white. 75c.

Mrs. A. F. Dutton—Orange red, dark foliage.

Mrs. Isobel Coutts—Cream at base, suffusing to and heavily tipped with pearly pink. Extra fine stem.

Onah—A miniature Jane Cowl. Early and profuse.

Phoenix—Rich old gold, reverse of each floret crimson. 75c.

Princess Elizabeth—The cactus formed flowers are full and long lasting. Crimson scarlet.

FORMAL DECORATIVE

Baby Sagamore—A miniature Sangamore with same beautiful coloring of rich amber gold, shading darker to center. Free flowering. Good for cutting.

Baldre—Salmon rose. English gold medal winner.

Beechland Gem—Exquisite peach on a yellow base. 75c.

- Buckeye Baby—Golden buff. Early in season reverse and center tinged with red.
- Coralette—Salmon, free, on a good stem. Almost a ball in form.
- Coronne—Waxy white, resembling a gardenia.
- DeSchenk White—Reddish orange; low plant. New.
- Dolly—A new seedling of Fairy from the Geneva Dahlia Gardens. Dark rosy magenta.
- Eclipse, Jr.—Light orange, shading to deep orange at center.
- Evening Glow—Old gold and apricot, tipped red.

Miniatures are furnished in strong field roots; postpaid. Fifty cents each; $5.00 per dozen, except as noted.

Unwin—During recent years we have been importing from England seed of their Unwin border dahlias. They are low growing, free branching plants and quite free bloomers. The flowers are small, a few single but mostly semi double, and come in a pleasing range of colors. The plants make an excellent border and the flowers are much used for table decorations. Assorted.

Five for $1.00; dozen, $2.00.

Early Flowering Dahlias

In the Miniature Class we have imported from Holland an entire family of early flowering dahlias. In Europe they have been potted and shown in bloom at the Spring flower shows. They are free blooming and especially adapted for planting as a low hedge. In our garden they began blooming about two weeks ahead of other varieties.

Christel—Pure white.

Kate—Deep scarlet.

Liesel—Golden yellow, heavily suffused rose.

A Few Suggestions as to Culture

BY J. T. FITCHETT, JANESVILLE, WIS

Proper division of the roots at planting time, water and cultivation are essential to the successful growing of dahlias.

WHEN TO PLANT.

Plant out when all danger of frost is over—about corn planting time. If received too early, roots should be placed in sand or soil and may be started indoors.

Growers in the South may plant early in April and have dahlias in bloom early in June. When the heat gets them and the plants cease to grow freely and the stems become hard, then cut the plants back, leaving only two joints above ground. Keep cultivated and they will start a new growth which should give a fresh crop of bloom in October. This may seem heroic treatment, but it works out all right.

WHAT TO PLANT.

If you have old clumps, split them into as many divisions as possible with one or two sprouts on each. Do NOT pull the roots off but split the old stem and the crown (where all the eyes are located) with a sharp knife. It is as reasonable to plant a whole ear of corn as a whole clump of dahlias. A large division will produce too many tops and only poor flowers. The roots we send out are divided ready to plant. Don't worry about a small root, all you really need is a sprout or eye. A root without an eye is worthless.

WHERE TO PLANT

Best place to plant is in the vegetable garden where they can be cultivated. Spade or plow ground fairly deep. Dig a hole six inches deep, put back a little loose dirt, lay the root on its side with sprout up and cover with about an inch of loose dirt. Pour in a quart of water to settle dirt closely around the root. Sprinkle a level tablespoonful of Vigoro in a circle around where the sprout will come up, but not so as to come in contact with it; then nearly fill the hole with loose dirt. This leaves a slight depression around the stem, which is an advantage in watering. Two feet apart in the row and three and a half feet between rows is about right. If soil is heavy or rich in fertilizer, a shovel of coal ashes may be worked into each hill before planting. This will tend to keep the soil from packing and, being utterly devoid of fertilizer value, will tone down the over-rich soil. Dahlias planted in a soil rich enough for roses or peonies will make a rank growth and not come to bloom as early as they should. Put a wooden label with the name written heavily in lead pencil beside each plant. It's half the fun of growing them to know their name when they bloom.

Green plants should have the ball of earth wet and the roots loosened, then plant as deep as dormant roots. If plants are small, only partly fill the hole and complete the job as they grow. Shade for a few days.

CULTIVATION.

Rake the ground thoroughly as soon as planting is completed and repeat this raking every week until plants are large enough to shade the ground. If the season is dry, water thoroughly at night once a week and rake the ground the next morning. Flowers are produced on the soft growth, and if through neglect your plants have become hard and woody, better cut a part of the top off and start over again.

FEEDING.

At planting time use plant food as directed under "Where to Plant." When flower buds begin to form, apply a level tablespoonful of Vigoro around each plant in a circle starting two inches from the stem and extending out ten inches and work it lightly into the soil. This feeding should be repeated every two or three weeks. Do not let the plant food touch the stalk or leaves.

DISBUDDING.

Larger flowers may be produced by removing the smaller buds usually appearing on either side of the main bud. Also remove the side branches as soon as they start at the first three joints immediately below the terminal bud.

INSECT PESTS

One of your worst pests in a dry season is the Leaf Hopper, a very small insect which sucks the sap out of the under side of the leaf and flies away as soon as you brush against the plant. The leaves appear mottled and tips turn brown, like potato vines with "hopper burn." We have used both Derrisol and Greentox—sprayed on under side of leaves—with marked success. Black Leaf 40, Red Arrow and Evergreen are also recommended—BUT. "Get 'em early." In a trial of powdered Agcide it proved very effective in control of leaf hoppers and other insects. Believe an early dusting will be beneficial in protecting plants from becoming infested and also as a fungicide.

KEEPING FLOWERS

Cut flowers early in day if possible, trim off surplus foliage and put ends of stems in HOT water for a minute, after which they may be put in cold water in the usual manner. Fresh flowers treated in this way last much longer and wilted ones are much revived by it. Do not get the hot water on flowers or leaves.

STORING ROOTS.

After a killing frost, let the roots ripen for a week, then cut off tops and dig the clumps of roots carefully. Label each variety and pack clumps in boxes on floor of vegetable cellar. If after a few weeks they seem to be too dry the roots may be covered with papers or sand. Do not divide clumps until spring.

Our fields have been inspected and given a clean bill of health by the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture. Certificate of Inspection is on each package.
